

Some new remarks on a kinetic equation for Compton scattering

Miguel Escobedo, Universidad del País Vasco

We consider an approximation, for small values of the energy variable, of the kinetic equation that describes the Compton scattering. After proving the existence of local solutions, we discuss their global existence. We describe the asymptotic behavior of some global solutions and compare with the results already known for the complete equation.