Introduction to automorphic forms
Ralf Schmidt, University of Oklahoma

There are two main sources of L-functions: Algebraic varieties and automorphic forms. This talk is a survey of the mechanism of obtaining L-functions from automorphic forms. We will talk about the L-group, automorphic representations, the local Langlands correspondence, and functoriality. We also explain the relationship between automorphic representations and classical modular forms.