

Experimental results for Siegel modular forms

Nathan Ryan, Bucknell University

My colleagues and I have spent several years computing Siegel modular forms and their related L-functions. In this talk I'll survey some things we have discovered about Siegel modular forms and the like and some preliminary notions about how these results about Siegel modular forms might be translated to Siegel paramodular forms.