

Counting points on K3 surfaces: some complexity guesstimates

David Harvey, University of New South Wales

I will describe some algorithms for computing zeta functions of K3 surfaces and attempt to estimate their real life running time.