Variance of sums of divisor functions in short intervals
Jon Keating, University of Bristol

In recent work with Brad Rodgers, Edva Roditty-Gershon and Zeev Rudnick, we have computed the variance of sums of divisor functions in short intervals in the function field setting. The result has some surprising features and suggests a general conjecture for the corresponding variance in the number-field setting.