Spaces of triangulations of a square
Aaron Abrams, Washington and Lee University

A simplicial complex homeomorphic to a disk can be drawn in the plane in a variety of ways. We will investigate this variety and revisit a 1970 theorem of P. Monsky that it is impossible to tile a square with an odd number of triangles of equal area.

This is joint work with J. Pommersheim.