

Generalized statistical honeycomb and void percolation.

Benoit Charbonneau, University of Waterloo

Mixing stochastic and classical geometry, I revisit Coxeter's statistical honeycomb in higher dimension. I report on experimentally obtained estimates of coordination numbers, and describe the work towards a bound for void percolation in a random Lorentz gas in spatial dimension $d \rightarrow \infty$.