

Laser beam imaging from the speckle pattern of the off-axis scattered intensity

Liliana Borcea, University of Michigan

I will describe a novel method for imaging a laser beam from measurements of the intensity of waves scattered off-axis by particles suspended in air (aerosols).