

Hydraulic Fracturing Modeling in Porous Media

Mary F Wheeler, The University of Texas at Austin

We apply multipoint flux methods for modeling multiphase flow in heterogeneous porous media with fractures. Extensions to coupling flow with geomechanics and geochemistry is also discussed. Both theoretical results and numerical experiments will be presented.