What if Gauss had had a computer?

Paul Zimmermann, INRIA, Nancy, France

In 1863, Gauss found two arc-tangent identities for pi/4, that outperform Machin's formula from 1706. The talk will explain how such identities can be verified and (re)discovered, both by hand and using modern computational mathematics tools.