

Supervising undergraduate research in mathematical visualization

David Dumas, University of Illinois at Chicago

I will discuss some undergraduate research projects I've supervised in the MCL at UIC that focus on mathematical visualization, what I've learned from them about undergraduate research supervision, and how this work relates to my personal research program.