

Inflation of poorly conditioned zeros of systems of analytic functions

Leykin, Anton- Georgia Tech

We develop a method for isolating a poorly conditioned zero of a system of analytic equations as a point in a cluster of several zeros.

Our approach relies on solving an optimization problem, a solution to which can be approximated with a sum-of-squares relaxation.

(This is a preliminary report on a joint work with Michael Burr.)