

Evolution Equations and Randomized Initial Data

Gigliola Staffilani, MIT

In this talk I will consider three different types of evolution equations: a quasi geostrophic equation, a NLS equation and a wave equation with a null form as non-linearity. I will show how an appropriate randomization of the set of initial data allows us to show the existence of global solutions even in supercritical regimes.