Time consistency and optimal stopping of risk averse multistage stochastic programs
Alexander Shapiro, Georgia Institute of Technology

We discuss time consistency of risk averse stochastic programs. We demonstrate that if the respective risk functionals are not strictly monotone, then there may exist infinitely many optimal policies which are not time consistent. In particular we discuss time consistent formulations for risk averse optimal stopping time problems.